PLAINTIFF STATES' PARTIALLY OPPOSED MOTION TO FILE A SUR-REPLY TO DEFENDANTS' REPLY BRIEFS

Plaintiff States respectfully request that the Court grant them permission to file a limited sur-reply¹ to two reply briefs of the Defendants United States of America, et al. (“Federal Defendants”) and Defendant-Intervenors Elizabeth Diaz, et al. (“Private Intervenors”). See ECF No. 681, Federal Defendants’ Reply in Support of Cross-Motion for Summary Judgment (“Fed. Reply”); ECF No. 680, Reply Brief of Defendant-Intervenors Elizabeth Diaz, et al. in Support of their Motion for Summary Judgment (“Pvt. Intvn’rs’ Reply”).

The proposed sur-reply (attached as Exhibit 1) is limited to responding to what Defendants should have filed as separate motions under Fed. R. Civ. P. 56(d) but instead lodged in their reply briefs in support of their separate cross-motions for summary judgment²—contrary to this Court’s procedures. See Civil Procedures of Hanen, J. at 3.E. (“Counsel shall not combine two different and unrelated pleadings (motions, responses, replies, or exhibits) into the same electronically filed document.”). Plaintiff States had expected the filing of Rule 56(d) motions in the weeks following, which would have allowed Plaintiff States to respond as a matter of course.³ Approaching the recently scheduled oral argument in this case with no such 56(d) motions forthcoming, Plaintiff States are compelled to ask this Court for leave to file a response by way of a sur-reply.

The proposed sur-reply is limited to responding to the Rule 56(d) arguments that both sets of Defendants make in their reply briefs in support of their cross-motions for summary judgment, see Fed. Reply at 5–10; Pvt. Intvn’rs’ Reply at 9–10, and the attached declarations. ECF Nos. 681-1, 682. These arguments and evidentiary submissions seek to preclude the consideration of the declaration relating to driver’s license costs attached to Plaintiff States’ response in opposition to the cross-motions for summary judgment.⁴ ECF No. 673 at 40–44; ECF No. 674-1 (Exhibit 41). As this Court has explained, where a “reply raise[s] evidentiary objections to [a party’s] response ... to which [the party] is entitled to respond,” a sur-reply is proper. Bushidopro, C.A. v. Nippon Pillar Corp. of Am., Inc., No. 4:19-cv-4249, 2021 WL 3660766, *2 (S.D. Tex. Mar. 23, 2021) (Hanen, J.). That is the situation here.

² The Fifth Circuit has sometimes assumed, without deciding, that Rule 56(d) arguments embedded within other briefing can constitute a motion for a continuance, but only to reject the arguments on the merits. See MDK Sociedad De Responsabilidad Limitada v. Proplant Inc., 25 F.4th 360, 367 (5th Cir. 2022). This Court has done the same. See United States v. Ledesma, 33 F. Supp. 3d 734, 740–41 (S.D. Tex. 2012) (Hanen, J.) (“to the extent that this third request for more time contained in Ledesma’s response is a motion [under Rule 56(d)], the Court denies it.”)

CONCLUSION

Plaintiff States ask the Court to place the proposed sur-reply, Exhibit 1, on the docket of this case for the Court’s consideration.
